Tracking, California Do Not Track Disclosures, and Ad Choices

Certain parts of our Site require cookies. You are free to set your browser or operating system settings to limit certain tracking or to decline cookies, but by doing so, you may not be able to use certain features on the Site or take full advantage of all of our offerings. Please refer to your Web browser's or operating system's website or "Help" section for more information on how to delete and/or disable your browser or operating system from receiving cookies or controlling your tracking preferences.

Some browsers have a Do Not Track feature that lets you tell websites that you do not want to have your online activities tracked. Our system may not respond to Do Not Track requests or headers from some or all browsers.

To learn how to manage privacy and storage settings for Flash cookies, please click here. On your mobile device, you may also adjust your privacy and advertising settings to control whether you want to receive more relevant advertising.

We and our network advertisers may periodically show you ads online for products and services in which you might be interested based on your visits to both our websites and other websites (a process known as "behavioral advertising"). In order to do this, we need to place a cookie or other tracking device on your computer. If you prefer to not receive online ads in this manner, you can opt-out of some network advertising programs that use your information by tracking your browsing habits via cookies or other tracking devices. To do so you can use the Network Advertising Initiative (NAI) Opt-Out Tool by clicking here. It shows you which advertising networks have placed cookies on your computer, and lets you opt-out of being tracked by them, should you wish to do so. Opting out of a network does not mean you will no longer receive online advertising. It only means that the network from which you opted out will no longer deliver ads tailored to your web preferences and usage patterns.
